House of Pagne Champagne Gardening at the High Line Hotel

If this doesn't get your attention, nothing will:

We found the most pleasant outdoor drinking spot in New York.

Yep, that did it.

It's called Champagne Charlie's, it's a front yard/garden that's also a champagne bar, and it's open now at the High Line Hotel in Chelsea. (See our slideshow here.)

And now, a few key things you'll find at this place:

—Shade. You can sit under trees. You can sit under sunbrellas. You can... not do those and get a sunburn.

—Oysters.

–Champagne. Obviously.

–Tomato-chorizo relish. That's going on your burger. (See the menu here.)

–Jealous passersby. Expect a few of those.

–The bar. There's only one. And they're pretty strict about it: it's got champagne bottles, champagne glasses, oysters, beer and nothing else.

–The Holy Spirit. The whole place used to be a seminary.

Not to quibble with the Almighty, but... let's call it an improvement.
