Five of the Best Outdoor Bars in New York City for Summer Alta Linea, the High Line Hotel

There is no need to charter a jet to Europe if you are craving authentic Italian cuisine. The High Line Hotel's new Italian eatery, Alta Linea, offers an array of seasonal aperitivi (traditional small Italian plates) made from fresh ingredients and produce, as well as an extensive drink menu of cocktails, wines, and beers. Located in the hotel's courtyard garden, the eatery provides a laid-back environment for diners seeking an alfresco experience. First opened on June 5, the 90-seat watering hole evokes the aesthetic of a traditional Italian piazza with a bubbling fountain, string lights, white umbrellas, striped cushions, and a marble bar.
